Obituary.

We have to chronicle this week the decease of one of the oldest and most widely known of the citizens of Flushing.—WILLIAM R.
 PRINCE. His death, which was from disease of the heart, occurred very suddenly on Sunday morning last, the 28th inst., he having been in excellent spirits and engaged in writing as usual during the preceding evening.

Coming of a family which for several generations had been identified with the progress of Horticulture and Floriculture in America, Mr. Prince inherited in its fullest extent, the love of those branches of study and business.

In fact, his life may be said to have been devoted to the improvement of Fruit and Flower culture, and to studies directly connected with Botany.

For nearly fifty years he was a contributor to all of the leading Horticulture and Botanical periodicals in the United States; his last contribution being in the "Gardeners Monthly" for March, 1889.

In 1830 he published the "Treatise on the Vine," the first, and we believe the largest work ever published in America on Grape Culture. This was followed by the Pomological Manual; a Treatise on Fruits," in 1832; and the "Manual of Roses" in 1846.

For a long series of years he was the proprietor of the Linnæan Nurseries at this place, and during that time introduced to American cultivation a large number of the most important and popular fruits disseminated through the country.

For the past seven years he has made the medicinal properties of plants a subject of special study, and has been successful in introducing several remedies of great power and virtue. In this connection the Eclectic Medical College of Pennsylvania conferred on him the degree of M. D. a short time since.

Mr. Prince was a member of many Pomological, Botanical and Medical Societies, and took a prominent part in the meetings of the American Institute and kindred Associations.
 He received the degree of LL. D. from the American University of Philadelphia in 1868.

Although he had passed the "three score years and ten," Mr. Prince never intermitted his labors up to the time of his death. About ten days ago he published a pamphlet on an Agricultural topic, which had long been of special interest to him; and at the time of his decease was engaged on a medical treatise which was nearly completed and more than half in type. Too constant application to the latter for the past few weeks is supposed to have hastened his decease.

Mr. Prince was in his 74th year, having been born in November 1795. His remains were interred in the Flushing Cemetery yesterday afternoon.
